

SISONS is a project of great interest for the Galician and northwestern Iberian cultural sector, due to the quality of the proposals that will be selected, the objective of its dissemination, and the enhancement of the joint interests of Galician music.

To achieve this, during the fair/festival, efforts will be made to seek synergies with other entities to reach different audiences and reinforce communication from tourism, environmental, social, and educational perspectives by collaborating with other agents and sensitivities related to music and its values.
